

Sailing with Schooner Inc's Captain Dagold

For Immediate Release –

Tuesday, July 15, 2008

Press Contact: Carol Kasper or Beth McCabe at (203) 865-1737

New Haven, CT – Schooner Inc is pleased to welcome Jeremy Dagold as Schooner Inc's new Executive Captain. Captain Dagold pilots the S/V Quinnipiack, Schooner Inc's 91 foot gaff rigged schooner, which is used as an education and passenger vessel. He oversees operations and a crew of two mates, three deckhands and a shipboard educator.

Captain Dagold's move to Long Island Sound brought him up the East Coast from the Chesapeake Bay. There he worked for the Living Classrooms Foundation of the National Capitol Region in Baltimore, Maryland, where he was Master of the motor vessel Half Shell. Since graduating from St. Mary's College of Maryland with a BA in history in 2001, he has been on sailing and motorized boats with Living Classrooms Foundation, Mystic Whaler Cruises, Liberty Fleet of Tall Ships, Inc. and Clipper City Cruises, Inc. Mr. Dagold holds a 100-ton near coastal masters license: sail and towing endorsed.

Schooner Inc is a non-profit marine education organization based in New Haven, Connecticut. Since 1975, Schooner Inc has been dedicated to promoting environmental awareness and personal growth through experiences in marine science, sailing, and the history of Long Island Sound and its watershed. Each year more than 13,000 people participate in Schooner Inc programs in the classroom, on the shore and on board Quinnipiack, Schooner's 91-foot schooner. For more information, call the office at 203-865-1737 or visit www.schoonerinc.org.

XXX